

Pacific Islands Climate Services Forum – Suva, Fiji

Background: The Pacific Islands Climate Services Forum is hosted by the Pacific Centre for Environment and Sustainable Development (PACE-SD) and the Pacific Climate Information Services (PaCIS). The forum is aimed at engaging resource and disaster risk managers, the EU GCCA in country coordinators, meteorological service representatives, postgraduate students, community representatives and the greater climate services community to address the following objectives:

- Raise awareness of the capabilities of meteorological, oceanic and atmospheric knowledge available and used in villages and communities to support climate adaptation
- Raise awareness of available climate and weather service products and give a snapshot of the status of climate science, impacts, and adaptation.
- Discuss what products and delivery capabilities are needed for community climate adaptation and disaster and risk management planning
- Discuss the development of a long-term strategic plan for the delivery of climate and weather services to the region, considering user requirements and user feedback, to minimize gaps and overlaps and to align climate service activities that already exist in the region.
- Establish support for peer-to-peer learning networks
- Cultivate the growth of a sustained climate assessment process that is grounded in the iterative ‘co-production of knowledge’ through dialogs between local experts, key decision makers, and scientists

Approach: The Pacific Islands Climate Services Forum will be organized around three components; a multi-day Workshop/Dialogue, Training, and Partners Meeting. The Workshop/Dialogue will provide an opportunity for the sharing of local climate knowledge and impacts, the state of climate science knowledge and resources, implications of the impacts of climate change over the near and long term to key resources and the identification of knowledge gaps. The Training will focus on tools and services that can be accessed by communities to help inform adaptation strategies. Finally a Partners meeting will be held to evaluate the outcomes of the Workshop/Dialogue and place them in a context that supports more harmonized development and delivery of new or improved products and services that meet the needs of those using the information.

Outcomes: Specific desired outcomes of the Pacific Islands Climate Services Forum include;

- Local/regional policy and decision-makers have a toolkit of best practices, actions they can take back and act upon to address climate issues critical to them. Researchers and program managers have an outline of product content and format requirements that take into account local/regional variation in climate drivers, issues, capacities, and cultures.
- Participants are able to more easily access and make better use information to support their specific interest and need. Support for peer-to-peer exchange and learning networks is developed.
- Mechanisms and methods for communication, coordination, and collaboration directed towards the transformation of climate-related information into actionable knowledge in a way that minimizes duplication of effort, maximizes the use of agency resources in the Pacific, and fosters the growth of a regional culture of cooperation
